See How Easy It Is to Get Rewarded in Life with John Hancock Vitality

Meet Sara. Sara is 40 years old and a long-time cyclist. Sara just started a new job at DigiRad, a medical equipment supply company as a Sales Associate. Through her new company, Sara was offered group health insurance that was tied to a wellness program — Humana Vitality. Sara was impressed with the program that counted points for the exercise and healthy activities she was already participating in to earn significant rewards. In the first year, Sara earned enough points to enjoy shopping, dining out and travel discounts. Sara was happy.

Meet Jeff. Jeff is 42 and Sara's long-time fiancé. Sara and Jeff planned to be married in the summer. As they discussed their future plans and finances, they both decided they needed to supplement the life insurance they were receiving through their respective companies. After a bit of research on line, they heard about a new life insurance program from John Hancock that was also tied to a wellness program — John Hancock Vitality.

After making a call, Sara and Jeff were pleased to find out that they qualified for a significant amount of life insurance at a low cost. They were even more thrilled to find out that the points they were already earning with their group health Vitality, would also count towards the John Hancock Vitality program which offered reduced premiums and travel and entertainment rewards. That’s twice the rewards for the same activities they were already doing.

John Hancock Vitality Insurance:

Sara, age 40,
- 20 year term with Vitality*
- $500,000 death benefit
- Premium: $340/yr
- Preferred Non-Tobacco

Jeff, age 42:
- 20 year term with Vitality*
- $500,000 death benefit
- Premium: $520/yr
-Preferred Non-Tobacco

*Vitality Gold status.

As you can imagine, Sara and Jeff were extremely happy. Not only did they enjoy good health, have the insurance coverage they needed, but they also enjoyed reduced premiums on their life insurance and travel rewards that helped pay for their honeymoon cruise!

Call Us Today!
800.422.7536

CBIZ Life Insurance Solutions